

How a person thinks,
determines how he shapes his life ...
Edi Meier, born February 3, 1937, Niederflachs 1253, Bülach, written in November 1949

Creation Energy Teaching Symbol
Thoughts

Creation Energy Teaching Symbol
Thoughtlessness

Learned through the instruction and wisdom of the Pleiadian Sfath, and expressed in one's own words, as well as reviewed and verified for accuracy, and found to be comprehensively correct in this manner.

The creation energy consciousness of humans is a prevailing energy and force with which they forge their lives and create everything. In their consciousness, there are creation energy, and the more they use this and employ it as a tool of their thoughts, the more they create what they desire. Moreover, the more they do this in a positive, neutral, and balanced manner, the more they ensure themselves thousands of joys, as well as gaining much respect, affection, love, approval, and blessings from others, while also creating many successes and happy, peaceful, and calm moments in their lives and for all those around them.

Especially for those with whom he interacts when he uses and applies his consciousness energy correctly. However, he brings and gains much more, such as respect and the care for the planet, all ecosystems, as well as nature and its fauna and flora. However, if he directs his thinking in a negative and non-neutral manner, he reaps thousands of various sufferings, failures, aversions, disapprovals, and also evil, badness, unkindness, hatred, and wickedness.

Whatever a person thinks in secret, whatever his thoughts, wishes, speeches, and actions are, they reveal what his character is, his attitude toward life, his way of life, and his circumstances, as well as his respect for life, which he cherishes and nurtures, for they are nothing more than the mirror of his thinking—of his thoughts.

What remains to be said concerns human memory, which has nothing to do with the fact that all knowledge is stored in the block of creation life energy, for the purely material functions of the brain are designed to store life-related memory factors and form the memory of the living body or the total organism, as well as the high and low values of character, behavior, ethics, and morals, etc.

These values, formed through education and self-education, and thus through learning, which are stored in the material brain as values and non-values, determine the earthly nature of humans, and consequently the manner of their behavior and their bodily memory. This is separated from the creation life energy, which stores the learned true and genuine knowledge and expands it unceasingly when it acts through the assignment in the form of consciousness in the next personality. What is stored in the creation life energy itself corresponds to a creation-energy memory, which exclusively stores only the evolutionary values, thus the new personality is not burdened in any negative form through its consciousness and can continue to develop according to the given state of its consciousness knowledge. However, what is crucial for further evolution is the degree and type of education and the absolutely necessary self-education.

Before all that follows is said and explained, it should be mentioned that a person must properly organize and apply their thoughts in such a way that they cultivate and maintain independent thought processes, and this must be in accordance with all correctness of the personal and absolutely free from any external mental influences of education, as well as not based on hearsay or any religious or secular beliefs, nor on indoctrinations and suggestions, etc., but always directed towards all values of reality and their truth, as well as the comprehensive and constantly given and valid ethics and morals.

It should be explicitly stated here: When religious, sectarian, and secular belief systems are criticized, particularly in connection with sectarianism, religions, and regarding secular views, these forms are condemned as lies, deceit, fantasy, delusion, and hallucinations filled with illusions, irrational and chaotic visions that cloud the thoughts of people and prevent free and independent thinking. This does not slander the individual who has fallen into any form of belief, but rather reveals the truth about the lies. And that all of this is merely lies—and additionally sexually deviant as well—Christianity proves this through its alleged origin story of humanity on Earth. It could not be more primitive and foolish to deceive believers who simply believe and are only superficial thinkers, yet do not engage in their own, open, good, correct, free, and clear thoughts because they are evidently incapable of independent thinking. However, it is urgently necessary to have one's own and completely free thoughts, for then it would be understood that every belief leads one astray, grossly denies effective truth and is labeled as a lie.

If one looks at the history of humanity solely from the perspective of the belief in Christianity, it begins with the claim that a God—thus a completely imaginary figure—supposedly created the first humans on Earth. First, he created Adam and then Eve, so that the poor guy would not be alone and...

—Translated by POE, sa